Pacific Guardian Center is the first high-rise complex in Honolulu's CBD to have an electric vehicle (EV) charging station. Use of the EV station is currently complimentary to all tenants and their guests (subject to change).

PGC Awarded LEED® Gold Certification

Pacific Guardian Center awarded Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design-Existing Buildings: Operations & Maintenance (LEED-EBOM) Gold® Certification by the United States Green Building Council (USGBC).

'LEED' and related logo is a trademark owned by the U.S. Green Building Council and is used by permission.

Pacific Guardian Center has worked hard to lower the cost of occupancy for its tenants and prospective tenants. A significant portion of this savings comes from recent decreases in electricity costs and PGC's ongoing energy efficiency programs that have resulted in the project earning an Energy Star Award every year since 2008.
